America Carries 1,300-Pound Load on Lake Keuka in Latest Trial-Lieutenant Porte Hopes to Make Final Tests Tomorrow.

By LIEUT. JOHN CYRIL PORTE, R. N.

Mr. Curtiss telephoned from Hammondsport last night that the final experiment with the sea-sled bottom for the America, upon which we agreed before I left for New York, was quite satisfactory. In Wednesday's trials there was a slight tendency to porpoising, so the length of the false bottom was reduced by two feet, and Mr. Curtiss took the craft out yesterday morning for a short trial. The change proved advantageous and left us quite ready to should supply, it is a very large amount. complete the sea-sled construction.

On account of a storm no effort and his belief in the prospect of its was made to leave the water yester-accomplishment, have increased madey but the America planed perfectly terially with his further study of the day but the America planed perfectly without porpoising, under a load of 1,300 pounds. Work will be pushed now to make the false bottom watertight. Mr. Cur tiss hopes to have this ready for the final testing by Saturday noon. I shall go to Hammondsport when it is ready as I wish to try out the America again before the permanent rebuilding of the Until this trial, I am begging off hull. from writing any further reports, hoping to make a holiday of the next twenty four hours.

Elmer Sperry, inventor of the Sperry automatic stabilizer, gave a disappointing report at our conference at the New York Club yesterday afternoon. I had quite counted upon the equipment of the Rodman Wanamaker craft with Mr. Sperry's device, but he finds it impossible construct a stabilizer in time to equip the America before August 1. With Capt. Creagh Osborne and myself, Mr Sperry went over some details of the drift indicator and agreed upon minor alterations which Captain Osborne believes will make the instrument more efficient for its important part in the It was encouraging to note that Mr.

Explorer Thinks Porte Will Accomplish Flight

(Copyright, 1914, the Press Publishing Co.)

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 17. Edgar Beecher Bronson, explorer and author, has been an interested observer of the America's trials this week. He stopped here to visit his son, Ensign Bronson, U. S. N., who is detailed here to the Curtiss shops to study aeroplane construction for the Government. Mr. construction for the Government. Mr. Bronson's interest in aeronautics extends back to 1874, when he made the balloon voyage which was a world's record for some thirty years.

"The public may be impatient of delay in completing the America," said Mr. Bronson, "but it should not be. Having seen for myself what the problem is, I am doubly reassured that a short time will see its solution. As Lieutenant Porte has explained, it is simply one of raising a large load from the water.

The experiments appear to be on the right track. The Atlantic will be crossed, and Lieutenant Porte appears to have excellent chances of being the first

Discovers River Falls

E. S. Martin, Boy Scout comm signer of the District of Columbia, and supervisor of playgrounds, returned today from a visit to the Boy Scouts' camps in the wilds of New Hampshire. Twenty-four boys, from Boston, New York, Baltimore and Washington, under the leadership of Scoutmaster H. I. Bowles, of Washington, are building frail from Wild river across t Mariah range to the Mariah river. Mr. Martin relates the discovery by his son Clinton, twelve years old, of a twenty-foot fall in the Mariah river.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture are inclined to disagree with A. H. Benjamin, a commission merchant, Who wrote letters to the Secretary of Agriculture and the Interstate Commerce Commission, which were received yesterday, complaining that the railroad ompanies refuse to furnish refrigerated transportation for beef shipped independently from South American ports. A prominent official said: "I do no believe that if any such amount of beef as Mr. Benjamin states may be shipped in, the railroad companies would refuse, even constructively, to handle it. It is too large an item for them to ignore. "While it is true," continued this of-ficial, "that most of the packing houses own refrigerators cars, the railrods own sufficient number of fruit and farm produce cars to handle this meat should it come in." "There has been a meat war on in Argentine for some months," he said, waged between the American and English interests, the big packing houses. Undoubtedly, meat has been sold in England for some time, below cost, but it is a result of the determined attempt gain control of the situation in South merica. One of the most successful fishing ex-peditions for some time was pulled off yesterday, when a select party of eight boarded one of the smart little cruisers belonging to a Washington yachtsman and ran down to Mattawoman creek. There were no fish caught, but the jaunt was highly successful, nevertheless; a unanimous vote was recorded upon this conclusion

The old sun had been curling me up part of the trip consisted in drawing one or more cards and one or more corks, while a faithful colored man, a iverman of poise and experience, al ternated between the duties of skipper and factotum.
